6 次の英文を読み、設問に答えなさい。

Akihiro was a student of Seisoku Gakuen High School. He enjoyed his new school life. He loved his class, friends, and club activities. He was poor at studying in junior high school, but it was fun to study with his classmates. Seisoku Gakuen was a good school for him.

One day, Mr. Nakajima, his homeroom teacher, told students, “This year, you join a new event. In September, you will go on a short school trip. You will travel to your favorite place and can play with your classmates. It will be fun, but you must plan the school trip for yourself. You must think about where to go and what to do. Also, you will make a presentation about your plans. I mean all the students must do so. You have three weeks for *preparation. Good luck, boys.”

Akihiro went to the library near his house several times. He wanted to prepare for his presentation. He had a good idea about planning the school trip. He planned to go camping with his classmates. First, he went to the bookshelf to find books about camping. When he was a child, he went camping with his father. It was a good memory for him, but he didn’t know how to camp. So, he learned about the way of camping by reading many books. Next, he used the PC in the library. He tried to find information about a good place to camp. Luckily, he found ① a good one. Then, he started to make *presentation materials. He was interested in using PowerPoint, but it was difficult for him. He went home and asked his father to help him make a PowerPoint presentation. Finally, he finished preparing for his presentation. He said thank you to his father before he went to bed.

The next day, Akihiro made a presentation for the school trip in his classroom. He was the first student to show his idea to his classmates. This was his first presentation in front of many students. He was so nervous that he spoke too fast. He also made mistakes when he used PowerPoint. His presentation wasn’t easy for his classmates to *comprehend. ② They didn’t understand how good his plan was. After all the students made their presentations, his homeroom teacher started thinking about who was the best. Sadly, his presentation was not the best in the class. On his way home, he kept crying. He was sad because he couldn’t do his best in the presentation. He didn’t speak a lot at dinner. He went to bed early without watching his favorite TV program.

A month *later, Akihiro was surprised to know that he could go camping. His father planned to camp because he wanted to make him happy. When they left home for camping, his father talked to Akihiro, “Akihiro, you did your best. I’m proud of you. I want you to remember this. You can’t always do well if you make an effort. However, all the people who do well make efforts.” Akihiro listened to his father and decided to continue making efforts.
